Death of Mrs. Gee.

The remains of Mrs. Fred Gee, who died at Putney, were brought here last Monday. Mrs. Gee had been very ill since last July with gastritis and erysipelas and death came Nov. 8, as a great relief from her sufferings. Ladonia Ira Fletcher was born at Belvidere, Sept. 22, 1874. She was one of five children born to Mr. and Mrs. Fletcher. March 5, 1896, she was married to Fred Gee at Sutton. Three children were born to them, the eldest, a boy, who died in infancy, and two little daughters, Katherine and Charlotte. They lived in Barre during the first years of their married life. From there they moved to West Northfield, Mass., and then to Putney, where Mr. Gee has a fine position as station agent. Mrs. Gee was a member of the Grange at Putney, and a member of Red Clover Rebekah Lodge of this place. She was a loving wife and mother. A woman of cheerful temperament, she looked upon the bright side of life, and made many friends by her genial manner and sunny face. She will be sadly missed in her home circle and by all who knew her. Besides her husband and little daughters, she is survived by her father and mother, a brother, and three sisters, Rolland Fletcher and Beulah Fletcher of Belvidere, Mrs. Ola Labounty of Cambridge, and Mrs. Charlotte Mac, of West Northfield, Mass. Funeral services were held from her late home at Putney, Monday forenoon. The body was brought here Monday night and taken to the home of Mr. and Mrs. Henry Gee, where prayers were said Tuesday morning, by Rev. Grant Van Blarcom. The flowers were many and costly, and testified of the esteem in which the deceased was held. Among the choicest ones were a piece sent by the Grange, containing 33 carnations; "Gates Ajar," the gift of the railroad employees; a pillow, "At Rest," from the Union telegraph operators; a bouquet of chrysanthemums from Red Clover Rebekah Lodge, and many smaller pieces. The interment was in the new part of the cemetery. Hall's Catarrh Cure is the only positive cure now known to the medical fraternity. Catarrh being a constitutional disease, requires a constitutional treatment. Hall's Catarrh Cure is taken internally, acting directly upon the blood and mucous surfaces of the system, thereby destroying the foundation of the disease, and giving the patient strength by nature in doing its work.
